ANNUAL DUES for membership in the Ohio
University Alumni Association are $3.00, of which $2.00 is for a year's subscription to The Ohio Alumnus. Memberships are renewable on October first of each year.

DISCONTINUANCE—If any subscriber wishes his Alumnus discontinued at the expiration of his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent with the subscription, or at its expiration. Otherwise it is understood that a continuance is desired.

REMITTANCE should be made by check or money order, payable to the order of the Ohio University Alumni Association, and mailed to the Association, Box 285,

THE FRONT COVER

Oft snapped, but always pleasing to the eyes and sentiments of Ohio University men and women are the famed "McGuffey Elms." They have been the
and here they are again. The picture was taken by Fred S. English, Berea, an O. U. senior.

From the Editor's Desk . . .

IT CAN be readily understood that in a student body the size of that at Ohio University there will always be a number of organizations needing and deserving more financial support than is available to them through state-appropriated funds or student contributions.

The Ohio University band is one of these. Not more deserving, perhaps, than several other campus groups, it is nevertheless one of the organizations that is frequently "before the public" and its particular need of the moment—new uniforms—is distressingly and embarrassingly apparent.

The uniforms now worn by our 105-piece marching band were purchased more than thirteen years ago—and they were secondhand ones at that. As a result of numerous alterations and years of use they have grown shabby and are no longer regalia of which the wearers or spectators can be proud. In fact, when we see our musicians on the field with smartly-equipped visiting outfits we don't feel very happy over the comparison.

New uniforms, however, will cost several thousand dollars and the university even though recognizing the need and being sympathetic with it, has no money that it can use for the purchase of this type of equipment. The Campus Affairs Committee, on the other hand, must make a wide allocation of student-contributed activities funds, and there is never more than enough of such monies to cover a migration day trip and to purchase a minimum of new music each year.

The band organization is willing to help itself, and is doing so.
A "band show" is in rehearsal at the present time and when presented the proceeds will go into a fund for uniforms. Also, an album of band records has been produced and it is hoped that they will be on hand for sale by Homecoming Day.

But the task is too great for the band, alone. It will have to have help. And that, dear reader, as you may have suspected before reaching this point, is where we come in.

For the current year, the directors of the Ohio University Fund, Inc., have agreed to receive and disburse contributions " earmarked" for the purchase of band uniforms.

At the bottom of page 5 will be found a coupon that may be clipped and attached to a check for a very worthy purpose. Let's hope the snip, snipping of your shears will be heard all the way to Athens. It will be sweet music to the ears of a hundred or so hard-working students who deserve a better break than they are getting.

ONCE AGAIN a name has been stricken from Ohio University's roster of deans and professors emeriti, a group of "grand old men" about whom the memories of older alumni center and who are,
for many of these grads and former students, Ohio University.

Professor Lewis James Addicott (see page 14) was a man truly loved by his students and respected by his colleagues. He followed with genuine interest the careers of his "boys" after they left the campus, and the visits paid him through the retirement years by men now eminently successful in engineering fields attested the friendship and regard they had for their onetime teacher.

Loyal to Ohio University, as well as to his friends, Professor Addicott wrote to President James upon the eve of retirement: "I am greatly indebted to the administrations, past and present, for the privilege I have had of serving this university for so long a term.
After leaving the active work of the university my interest and best wishes will continue, and I shall always be pleased to co-operate in any and every way."

To which the president replied: "It is not given to many individuals to establish such a long record of faithful and efficient service. Congratulations! Nor is it given many institutions to be the beneficiaries of such service."

Kipling's 'Twain' Meet at Ohio U.

A pattern for effective international relations is being fashioned at Ohio University by the 46 students from 26 foreign countries now enrolled at the school.

Representing virtually the "four corners" of the world, the 17 new students and the 29 returnees are working and playing at the university with a harmony and fellowship which denies the ethnic, political and lingual differences of their backgrounds. They carry their spirit of cooperation and understanding into their classrooms, their living quarters, and into the meetings of the International Club, their official common organization on the campus. The club, which numbers among its members many American students, was founded a year ago to foster understanding among the foreign groups on the campus and between the foreign students and the American students.

With the guidance of Dr. Victor Whitehouse, adviser to foreign students, the club provides cultural intellectual, and social activities for its cosmopolitan membership.

This year's enrollment of foreign students represents a sizable increase over last year, even though many potential enrollees were forced to cancel because of transportation difficulties—especially from Hawaii—dollar shortages, and other reasons.

The breakdown of countries shows China and Nigeria leading with four each, while Poland, Greece, Hawaii, and Curacao each have three representatives. France, Hungary, Puerto Rico, Iraq, Czechoslovakia and Trinidad have two each, and Cuba, Egypt, Jamaica, British West Africa, Indo-China, Turkey, Rumania, Finland, Brazil, Germany, Malaya, Guatemala, South-West Africa and Colombia each have one student on the campus. A variety of reasons brought the students to Ohio University.

Igor Shwabe, a white Russian who was born in Iraq, chose Ohio University because officials of the school gave him the most encouragement and understanding in his correspondence with them. Igor, majoring in architecture, was advised to select an American School by an English architect member of Parliament because of the advanced American ideas in architecture.

Friends recommended Ohio University to Enrique Kopperschmidt, of Rumania, who is following a pre-law curriculum and plans to enter the diplomatic service. Enrique has lived in France and South America and attended a school in New York before coming to Ohio.

Many selected Ohio University because, as pre-med student Kalu Ukuku Dike, of Nigeria, explains it, "there aren't too many students and it is possible to gain more from the instructors."

University FM Station Is Ohio's First Campus Unit

The first frequency modulation (FM) radio station on any Ohio Campus, and the third in the nation, is in operation at Ohio University.

The station, using call letters WOUL, is housed in the quonset hut with the university's campus station, WOUN. Both organizations will move into quarters designed for them in the new Fine Arts building when it is completed.

Broadcasting equipment worth $2,000 was purchased for the 10-watt FM station. Vincent Jukes, '30, station manager and associate professor of dramatic art and speech, estimates FM receivers in the Athens area at close to 1000. He believes that prices of FM converters for non-FM radios are within the range of student purchasing power.

The new station will cover away-from-home sports events by a mobile unit sent out by the station. Reception of the Ohio University-Western Michigan and Ohio University-Western Reserve football games at Kalamazoo and Cleveland was termed near-perfect. Home games will also be aired.

The station's equipment was successfully tested this summer. The broadcasting now underway—six hours Monday and six hours Wednesday plus special events in music, sports and convocations—is termed by the Federal Communications Commission as "broadcasting testing." This period precedes granting of a license from the FCC.

Required to operate as a training medium, the new station is completely non-commercial. The School of Dramatic Art and Speech, School of Journalism, School of Music, and the department of engineering offer courses in radio and are using the new FM facilities. A radio news wire service is contemplated for use by journalism students.

Dr. D. B. Green, of the electrical engineering department, is chief engineer for the new station and was in charge of installation and testing of equipment. He is assisted by advanced engineering students.

A radio executive committee, organized officially last year to supervise broadcasting policy, is composed of Dr. Claude E. Kantner, director of the School of Dramatic Art and Speech; B. T. Grover, assistant to the president; Prof. George Starr Lasher, director of the School of Journalism; Dr. Thomas Gorton, director of the School of Music; Professors Jukes and Green, and William Mnich, of Cleveland, student manager of the station. A senior in Fine Arts, Mr. Mnich worked at the Newark, Ohio, FM station this past summer.

Chairman Kantner said the committee is concerned only with the overall policy and welfare of the station. The training of the students is done by each of the departments offering courses in radio and utilizing the station's facilities.

SELBY MANAGEMENT-UNION SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AWARDED

The first recipients of the recently-created Selby Management-Union Scholarships are now registered at Ohio University-Portsmouth Branch.

Norma Jean Bartlett, of Portsmouth, and Opal Grace Van Hoose, of Lucasville, are the first beneficiaries of the four-year awards which are open to high school graduates whose parents or guardians are employees of the Selby Shoe Company plants in Portsmouth and Ashland, Ky.

A joint management and union project, the scholarships pay four years of registration fees up to a maximum of $1200 for each recipient. Present plans call for two awards each year, although that number may be raised in the future.

The recipients register for the first two years at Ohio University-Portsmouth Branch. For their junior and senior years they may select any college in the United States.

The awards are made by a committee. The recently-named awards committee is composed of Judge Ralph Stevens, probate court judge, Portsmouth; Mr. Albert Marting, manager of Marting's Department Store, Portsmouth; and Dr. G. W. Starcher, dean of University College, Ohio University.

Only applicants from families having less than a $6000 annual income are eligible.

CAPT. ROBERT M. DAGGETT

SIX ADDED TO ROTC STAFF AS ENROLLMENT INCREASES

The university's military science department has six new staff members this year to help meet the demands of its record enrollment of 1,247 cadets.

This year's enrollment tops the previous record of 1,133 set last year. Of the total figure, 1,045 are taking the two-year basic course. The remainder are specializing in advanced studies which lead to commissions in the Regular Army and the Air Force.

Among the new appointees is Capt. Robert M. Daggett, '40 (see picture), a native of Athens. Captain Daggett is an assistant professor of air science and tactics. He entered the Air Force in 1941 and served 42 months in the Southwest Pacific as a liaison, air supply and air transport regulating officer for general headquarters. Prior to returning to Ohio University, he served at Fourth Air Force headquarters in San Francisco and at Sheppard Field, Texas.

The other appointees and their assignments are Capt. James A. Williams, Capt. John F. Edwards, and 1st Lt. Rodney L. Cron, assistant professors of air science and tactics; Capt. Robert W. Burns, assistant professor of military science and tactics and head of the Quartermaster section; M-Sgt. Theodore L. Michalek, a veteran with 19 years service, sergeant-major for the Air Force section.

Band Launches 27th Year With New-Uniform Drive

Ohio University's bands are willing to compare products with just about any college band in the country. Note for note, there probably isn't a more talented group of musically-inclined college students anywhere.

"They're an on-the-ball outfit," declares Director of Bands Charles E. Gilbert, borrowing a succinct, expressive GI phrase.

The band department's year-around program attempts to provide participation for any student desiring it. Currently, some 120 students are in some phase of the program. They come from 60 different Ohio communities and five other states and the District of Columbia.

Keeping step with the growth of the university, the 105-piece Marching Band is today three times the size of the original band formed in 1923. In addition to the Marching Band, which of course takes the limelight during the football season, the department has a 90-piece Symphonic Band that performs with professional finesse and the Varsity Band which gives "pop" concerts in its "portico series" held on the west portico of Alumni Memorial Auditorium.

Evidence of the interest and enthusiasm of the band personnel is the hours of practice they give to perfecting their shows.

A layman would have difficulty appreciating the amount of time and work behind the brief halftime shows in Ohio Stadium. Assistant Director of Bands William R. Brophy, who plans and directs the stadium shows, estimates each production takes a minimum of 20 hours of plotting with small figures on charts scaled to the football field measurements. After the preliminary plotting of the complex marching formations, the band spends several hours on the field learning to execute them.

The Symphonic Band, which offers at its community concerts music from both the classics and the contemporary popular composers, will make its annual winter tour in February. Director Gilbert points out that these tours are not to make money, but "to win friends for the university and to bring to Ohio communities an enjoyable musical experience." The band still has some open dates available to alumni groups for the sponsoring of a concert in their community.

The band department's broad program includes the sponsoring of a two-week clinic-workshop for high school students each summer. Guest teachers this year included William D. Revelli, director of the concert and marching bands at the University of Michigan, and R. Paul Anderson, director of bands at State Teachers College, Milwaukee, Wis.

Musically, Ohio University's bands take a just pride in themselves. They have something they are not proud of, however—their uniforms.

Purchased second-hand in 1936, the uniforms today are an inappropriate, badly-worn, drab blue serge, their once white "accessories" permanently etched with tattle-tale gray. The best care possible can't keep these uniforms presentable.

The Symphonic Band can switch to tuxedos for their public appearances, but, Director Gilbert explains, uniforms are more desirable for this type of organization.

His "on-the-ball outfit" is out to do something about the uniform situation. The State, of course, cannot appropriate money for band uniforms, so the band department must raise the money. And it is determined that when Ohio University's Marching Band steps onto the turf at Ohio Stadium next fall, the colorless, time-worn blue will have been replaced

THE MARCHING BAND
an on-the-ball outfit

by bright, new Green and White.

The boys and girls in the band are anxious to garner some of the spectators' "ohs" and "ahs" of appreciation, heretofore too often reserved only for the smartly-clad guest bands in the stadium. Also planned for the Fall of 1950 is an all-girl marching group of about 36 pieces, according to Director Gilbert, who was recently named governor of the Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan district of Kappa Kappa Psi, national band honor fraternity.

The proposed uniforms, being designed by a committee from the band and art departments, are to cost approximately $7,000. Director Gilbert hopes to have the two-thirds down payment by January. Already several money-raising projects are set up.

The band and men's glee club have recorded a two-record album of the university songs, which are now available at $2. On November 12, the band department and the Fine Arts Council presented the "Varsity Night" revue. Other efforts by the band department to raise money for the Uniform Fund are in the making, but only part of the $7,000 needed can be obtained on the campus.

Alumni are being given an opportunity (see editorial page) to help their university's bands get the kind of uniforms that the bands, the university, and the alumni will be proud of. The coupon below is for your convenience. Just clip and attach to your contribution.

On and About the Green . .

SCHOOL SPIRIT is on the re-surge at Ohio University. Admittedly absent or at least lagging in the past few years, it has returned to the campus with a force that is heartening.

Best witness to its re-birth is the welcome the students give their football team when it returns to Athens after an away-from-home game. Typical of the crowds and, we hope the picture can depict, the enthusiasm of the welcomers is the accompanying shot of cheering students gathered at the courthouse to welcome the victorious Bobcats back from their game with Western Michigan at Kalamazoo. Cheerleaders and band led the more than a thousand students in Ohio songs and cheers as they waited for more than an hour the return of the university busses from Michigan, and then feted the team and coaches with cheers and songs for another hour.

For the students, the machine facilitates newspaper research. For library personnel, it cuts to a minimum the storage space required for newspaper files and eliminates the laborious process of binding.

One small roll of microfilm, about one pound, used in the Recordak covers 12 to 15 editions of the New York Times, which is supplying the university library with its microfilm service. A section of film less than 1/300th as large as the printed newspaper page is projected upon the adjustable viewing screen which is as large as the original page.

Besides the advantage in use, the microfilm has a lasting quality not found in ordinary newsprint, which after a few years of handling and storage begins to deteriorate. Shown at the machine in the picture is Miss Joan Gunkelman, assistant to the periodical and reserve librarian.

PRESIDENT JOHN C. BAKER was the speaker at the current academic year's first convocation held last month.

Taking as his theme "Your World," the president listed knowledge in abundance, general understanding, manners, methods of self-education, and an understanding of democracy as the prime aims of college students.

He told his faculty-student audience that the initial objective of a college education was "to gain knowledge in abundance."

That phrase, he declared, should be interpreted broadly. He explained that knowledge should not only include vocational and technical learning, but also expression in many other fields of interest.

He named the development of that general understanding so important to human beings in their relationships to society as the second objective. He then listed instructions in manners or acceptable personal behavior.

Explaining his fourth point, "methods of self-education," President Baker declared that a person can only get a fraction of an education in college.

"True education is self-education and not limited to college education," he continued. He asserted that there is too much reliance on instruction and not enough on individual effort.

In accord with his fifth point, President Baker cited the extent to which students share in the operation of the university.

He stated that his office and those of faculty members are always open to students and pointed out that students currently are serving on 12 faculty committees.

WORK IS progressing steadily on Ohio University's five major building projects. With a total value estimated at approximately two million dollars, the building program now under way has been termed the largest in the university's history.

Virtually completed is the Engineering-Science Building, located to the rear of the post office and The Athens Messenger. Some of the classrooms in this building were ready for use as school opened in September. Its laboratories and other facilities are being occupied as rapidly as they are made ready.

Work is in the final stages at the University Health Center just off College Street. University officials hope to move equipment from the present health center quarters in the Agriculture Building to the new location during the Christmas vacation.

Also expected during the semester is completion of the new units of the Men's Dorm quadrangle, which will house an additional 200 men students.

Next in line to be completed is the natatorium on University Terrace, directly behind Music Hall. Facilities there should be available by April or May.

Foundation work at the site of the new Fine Arts Building on South College Street is now being finished after a delay during the summer months. No completion date has been named for this building.

Other recent projects include the erection of a temporary steel unit to the rear of Ewing Hall to house the R.O.T.C. Air Corps section and the Dramatic Arts scene shop, and the installation of two new boilers at the campus power plant.

FIRST AMERICAN showing of 22 French paintings, the majority of them modern works from the School of Paris, was held in the Edwin Watts Chubb Library gallery from September 24 to October 15.

The paintings, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Masterson of Crooksville, Ohio, were a wedding present to Mrs. Masterson from her father, Jean Haenen, an art dealer in Antwerp, Belgium. Mrs. Masterson, a native of Belgium, married Mr. Masterson, a Crooksville school teacher, while he was in the service in World War II.

The group of paintings, nine from the old French school and 13 from the more modern School of Paris (1900-1925), were brought to this country in March, 1947, and had never before been shown in public display. They vary in size from a small 12 inches x 15 inches to one 5 feet x 7 feet.

The magazine Coronet has loaned the College of Applied Science seven paintings entitled "Seven Future Wonders of the World" for exhibition in the Engineering Building. The pictures were reproduced in the June, 1949 Coronet, and are entitled: "Turning Night into Day," "Suspension Bridge from Brooklyn to Staten Island," "Dam on the Yangtze," "Sea Tunnel Linking Atlantic and Pacific Oceans," "Super Highway Connecting Alaska to Cape Horn," "Underwater Railroad Tunnel Between England and France," and "Space Ships."

Another October exhibit was that of the Traphagen School of Fashion, New York City. Scheduled for November 1 to 27 is an exhibit which will include works of 22 painters from the Western Hemisphere.

THE OHIO UNIVERSITY Theater launched its 1949-50 season October 25 with a presentation of "John Loves Mary."

Other productions scheduled for this season include "All My Sons," "The Glass Menagerie," and "Ah, Wilderness," all major Broadway shows.

In addition this season, there will be two offerings in the Great Play Series. The first will be Euripides' "Alcestis," the second, several one-act plays which as yet have not been announced.

Director of this season's University Theater is Christopher Lane, assistant professor of dramatic art and speech.

Schauder, and the three foreign students who scored in last year's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," Charles Kowecy, Sylvia Lakomska, and Tad Danielewski.

PRESIDENT BAKER and 12 other faculty members attended the inauguration of President William Bay Irvine of Marietta College, October 15.

Besides Ohio University, President Baker represented the American Council on Education. His colleagues represented various colleges, universities and educational organizations throughout the country.

Those attending from Ohio University, in addition to the president, were Dr. Frederick H. Kreeker, professor of zoology; Dr. Rush Elliott, professor of anatomy; Dr. Robert H. Marquis, professor of mathematics; John Hokanson, acting instructor in mathematics; Carleton I. Calkin, assistant professor of drawing; Dr. H. Hewell Roseberry, professor of physics.

Dr. Herndon E. Hudson, health service director; Raymer McQuiston, associate professor of English, Dr. Vivian M. Roberts, director of the School of Home Economics; Damaris Pease, instructor in home economics; Dr. Carl G. Gustavson, associate professor of history; W. H. Fenzel, associate professor of accounting and economic geography.

Dr. Robert F. Creegan, assistant professor of philosophy, represented the university at the inauguration of Dr. A. Hollis Edens at Duke University, October 22. E. H. Gaylord, professor of civil engineering, and Dr. Elliott attended the inauguration of Clarence Charles Stoughton at Wittenberg, October 21, Professor Gaylord for the university and Dr. Elliott for the Ohio Academy of Science.

SCHOOL TEACHERS and officials from throughout southeastern Ohio assembled at Ohio University October 27 and 28 for the 54th annual meeting of the Southeastern Ohio Education Association.

Theme for the annual gathering was "Education, the Hope for World Understanding in the Atomic Age."

Principal speakers were Dr. Lillian Moller Gilbreth, of Montclair, N. J., professor emeritus of Purdue University and the mother in the best seller, "Cheaper by the Dozen;" former Governor Ellis G. Arnall, of Georgia, and Nilkanth Chavre, delegate to UNESCO from India, well-known lecturer, and confidant of Mahatma Gandhi.

Speakers from the university included President Baker; Dr. George J. Kabat, dean of the College of Education; Dr. James R. Patrick, professor of psychology; and Greta A. Lash, associate professor of English and director of freshman composition. Dr. Mary T. Noss, professor of French, was co-chairman of the combined Speech, English, and Modern Language meeting. Music by the All-Southeastern Ohio chorus was under the direction of Dr. Thomas Gorton, director of the School of Music. Mrs. Evelyn Anderson, acting instructor in design, was chairman of the Fine Arts sectional meeting.

Other speakers included Dr. Gordon Chalmers, president of Kenyon College; Prof. William C. Craig, chairman of the department of speech at Wooster College; D. Robert Jones, assistant Ohio State Fair manager; and Mrs. Rajamma Devedas, government of India scholar.

President Glen M. Hanes, superintendent of Athens County schools, was general chairman of the meeting. He was assisted by a local committee composed of Dr. H. E. Benz, acting dean of the College of Education;

B. T. Grover assistant to the president of the university; Supt. Willard P. Barker of the Athens schools; Dean Emeritus T. C. McCracken of the College of Education, and Harper C. Pendry, former Athens school head.

Organized Units Making Good Start

Off to a flying start on programs for the new year are a number of the organized alumni units. Other groups, many of which hold only mid-winter or early spring meetings, are working on plans which are not yet ready for announcement.

Toledo

Not hitherto reported in The Alumnus is the May 25 meeting of the Toledo chapter. It was a potluck dinner in the Colonial Room of the Franklin Airport, with Head Football Coach Carroll Widdoes as a special guest and speaker.

Officers for the general chapter were elected as follows: President J. W. LaFrance, '35; vice president, Katherine Boyd Shurtleff, B.S.Ed., '35, A.M. '36; secretary, Alice Wilson Fenneken, '35; and treasurer, Oscar Neal, '31.

Coach Widdoes was the guest of a number of men of the Toledo alumni group at a luncheon the following day at the Commodore Perry Hotel when plans for the forming of a Bobcat Club (men only) were discussed.

Cincinnati Bobcats

Ohio University men of the Cincinnati area, having previously met with Coach Widdoes and others from the campus, assembled for dinner at Hotel Sinton on June 2 and in a meeting that followed organized the Ohio University Bobcat Club of Cincinnati. Prof. A. C. Gubitz, the university's director of public relations, and Bob Wren, '43, head baseball coach at Ohio University, were guests and speakers.

A constitution was adopted and the new and distinctive membership cards distributed. Officers elected to serve for the coming year were: President, E. B. Wright, '38; 1st vice president, Ferol E. Betz, '37; 2nd vice president, William Jurkovic, '38; and secretary-treasurer, Stephen R. Curtis, '47.

The Sinton has been chosen as the official headquarters of the new club, and correspondence concerning club affairs may be directed to the Ohio University Bobcat Club of Cincinnati, c/o The Sinton Hotel.

The club's first fall meeting was held at the Sinton on September 29. Athletic Director Don C. Peden and Alumni Secretary Clark Williams were the campus guests on this occasion. A buffet supper was served prior to the speaking and the showing of movies of the Ohio-West Virginia gridiron contest. Special tribute was paid the former football coach and he was presented with an honorary membership in the organization.

On October 31, Club President Ed Wright appeared on the program of the University of Cincinnati Boosters Club following a luncheon at the Netherland Plaza Hotel. The Ohio U. man assured the Bearcat adherents that they could expect plenty of fight from the Bobcats in Ohio Stadium on November 5.

ANNUAL XMAS DANCE

Ohio University alumni, students, and friends who look forward each year to the Christmas Dance sponsored by the Cleveland Bobcat Club will be pleased to know that plans are in the making for the 1949 event which will be held, Thursday night, December 29, at the Hotel Allerton. Bob Pattie and his orchestra will provide the music. More details later.

Brandon T. Grover, '19, assistant to President Baker at Ohio University, will meet with the Cincinnatians at their meeting on November 3, while President Baker, himself, will be the honor guest at a December meeting.

Cleveland Bobcats

Activities of the year started with the traditional smoker at the Cleveland Athletic Club. Announcements were made of future events on the club's calendar and arrangements made for a club-sponsored dance at the Alcazar Hotel on October 15 following the Ohio-Western Reserve Football Game. Tickets for the game in a special Ohio University section were made available at the meeting.

The dance, featured by the music of Hal Lynn and his orchestra, enjoyed an excellent attendance. A crew from Ohio University's radio stations WOUN and WOUJ was present to interview guests and make wire tape recordings which were used on campus programs the following week. Ralph C. Frey, '39 was chairman of the dance committee.

Speakers for the November 14 meeting, a dinner affair at the Athletic Club, will be Tadeusz Danielewski, an Ohio University student from Poland and Ivo Moravcik, a student from Czechoslovakia. Both are excellent speakers and have interesting stories to tell about life behind the "iron curtain."

Current officers of the Cleveland Bobcats are: President, Sherman W. Peters, '41; vice president, Chester C. Gober, '41; secretary, Peter Hlinka, '41; and treasurer, George M. Brown, '31.

Akron Bobcats

Fifty men of the Akron area signed as charter members of the Akron Bobcat Club at an organizational meeting at the Portage Hotel on October 5.

Don C. Peden, athletic director, and Clark E. Williams, alumni secretary, were the club's guests and speakers. Movies of one of the early-season games were shown and, as at Cincinnati, Don Peden was presented with an honorary membership in the new organization.

Willis H. "Bid" Edmund, '28, headed the temporary committee on arrangements. The new president of the club is David W. Hardman, '42. Other officers chosen were John D. May, '39, vice president; and Bruce R. Blake, '40, secretary-treasurer.

Akron Women

The yearbook and plans of the Akron Association of Ohio University Women for the coming year have not yet been received by the Alumni Secretary but it is known that a full program of activities is being drafted by the following officers: President, Pearl Woodward Smith, '25; vice-president, Mary Propp Brewer, '40, corresponding secretary, Alice Baker, '24; and treasurer, Elma Smith Reuter, '43. The club's scholarship for the current year has been granted to Drusilla Riley, a Summit County student now enrolled at the university.

ONCE AGAIN—and for the last time, it is hoped—an election of Alumni Association officers must be held by mail. The streamlined commencement programs of recent years have left no spot for a general meeting of alumni at which an election of officers could be conducted. Last June's program was no exception.

A business meeting immediately preceding the annual Commencement Supper on Saturday afternoon has been proposed and, unless a more opportune time is discovered this suggestion will be acted upon in the future.

For another year, however, and for lack of an alternative procedure, members of the Ohio University Alumni Association are asked to record their choices for the four principal offices and the seven-man executive committee by mail, using the attached ballot.

In accordance with past custom a single slate of officers has been submitted by the nominating committee but, as usual, Association members have the privilege of writing in the names of other qualified alumni whom they may prefer to those proposed in the slate shown above.

The committee on nominations this year is composed of Harry L. Ridenour, '12, Berea, chairman; Walter H. Heller, '37, Youngstown; and Dr. H. R. Wilson, '96, Athens.

To vote, members will simply remove the accompanying ballot, detach from stub, check names of nominees or write in substitutes, and mail. It should be noted that a one-cent stamp is required in the interest of proper delivery.

Failure of members to exercise their right of franchise will be taken as an indication of satisfaction with the slate recommended by the nominating committee.

Judge Lewis H. Miller, '13, Ripley, W. Va., has presided over the Fifth Judicial Court of his state for more than a score of years and has been the Association's vice president during the past year.

Judge Miller, a brother of the late Benjamin W. Miller, '14, has been nominated to succeed Frank H. Palmer, '12, Columbus.

Merrill F. Cooley, '16, is an instructor in Harding High School, Warren. He was a member of the Association's 1948-49 executive committee, and is an officer of state and national teachers organizations. He is the husband of the former Nelle Copeland, '15, and father of Franklin D. Cooley, an Ohio University sophomore. Another son, Charles, is student minister and Wesley Foundation director at the First Methodist Church in Athens.

For the offices of secretary and treasurer the present incumbents have again been nominated. They are, respectively, Clark E. Williams, '21, and William H. Fenzel, '18, both of Athens. Mr. Williams is in his 27th year in the secretarial post. Mr. Fenzel is associate professor of accounting and economic geography and has been a member of the Ohio University faculty since the year of his graduation.

The persons proposed for the advisory body represent a wide range of age brackets and interests, but for the sake of convenience in getting together only alumni living in the state were considered by the nominating committee.

Mrs. Eva Mitchell Gullum, '11, Athens, is the wife of Frank B. Gullum, '09, associate professor of chemistry at Ohio University and a former national president of the Alumni Association.

Robert G. Webber, '13, a onetime member of the Ohio University faculty, is now president of the Sterling State Bank in Mt. Sterling. A son, Robert, is a freshman this year in the university.

Homer W. Dupler, '24, Newark, another banker, is vice president of the Newark Trust Company.

Josephine Stiers Phillips, '25, is the wife of Dr. Fred W. Phillips, '25, a Zanesville physician and surgeon.

Vincent J. Jukes, '30, Athens, is associate professor of dramatic art and speech and director of Ohio University's AM and FM radio stations W'OUN and W'OU1.

J. W. LaFrance, '35, is a member of a Toledo firm of public accountants, LaFrance, McDaniels, and Company. Mr. LaFrance married an Ohio University graduate, the former Addie Frances Butt, '34.

Donna L. Burton, '48, Lakewood, is a physical education instructor in Cleveland's West Tech High School.

LEWIS C. DAVIS

... heads Bonwit Teller

BONWIT TELLER PRESIDENT IS OHIO GRADUATE OF 1932

Lewis C. Davis, '32, has been elected president of Bonwit Teller & Co. of Philadelphia, assuming his new duties October 1.

Mr. Davis, 38, is one of the youngest top executives in the women's specialty store field. Since 1946 he has been sales manager and a member of the operating board of the Halle Brothers Company, Cleveland, department store. Previously he was with the Marshall Field & Co. and Carson, Pirie Scott & Co. department stores in Chicago. Before going to Chicago he was with William Taylor Son & Co. in Cleveland.

After his graduation from Ohio University's College of Commerce, Mr. Davis attended Harvard, where he received his M.B.A. from the Graduate School of Business Administration in 1934. While at Harvard, he became acquainted with Dr. John C. Baker, who 11 years later was to become president of Ohio University.

In a recent letter to the Alumni Secretary, Mr. Davis said "I frequently think of Athens, Ohio University and the very wonderful years I spent there," and expressed the hope that he could arrange a visit to the campus at some time in the not too distant future.

UNIVERSITY ZOOLOGY HEAD NAMED RESEARCH DIRECTOR

Dr. J. W. Buchanan, '13, former chairman of the zoology department at Northwestern University and a onetime member of the Yale University faculty, assumed duties on July 1 as director of research of the Allan Hancock Foundation for Scientific Research in Los Angeles, Calif.

The foundation, relatively young, was established at the University of Southern California by Capt. Allan Hancock for the purpose of research in biology and geology, particularly in the geographical area along the west coast and south into the Gulf of Lower California.

Dr. Buchanan supervises the work of 40 scientists all of whom are specialists in various fields. "We plan," he indicated, "to develop a large reservoir of fact and theory upon which engineers and practical scientists can draw."

The recent record-breaking 4500-foot dive by Dr. Otis Barton into the Pacific off the California coast was sponsored by the Hancock Foundation.

Dr. Buchanan has two sons; one now an assistant professor of physics at West Virginia University. The California scientist is a brother of Edith A. Buchanan, '17, Youngstown.

WALTER H. STEWART

... moves up in steel

OHIOAN NAMED EXECUTIVE OF VIRGINIA STEEL COMPANY

Walter H. Stewart, '22, 2-yr., has been named vice-president of the Virginia Steel Company, Inc., Richmond, Va.

Mr. Stewart, who has spent his entire career in the steel building products field, was formerly sales manager of the Reinforcing Products Division, Truscon Steel Company, Youngstown.

He joined the Truscon organization in 1924 and has served in several important positions from structural and concrete engineer to district sales manager in Birmingham and St. Louis. In 1938 he was appointed sales manager of Truscon's Reinforcing Products Division.

Mr. Stewart is vice-president of the Concrete Reinforcing Steel Institute, chairman of the Committee on Reinforced Concrete Research of the American Iron and Steel Institute, and a member of the Technical Committee of the Wire Reinforcement Institute.

The Ohio University man's wife is the former Marguerite Watterson, '23, 2-yr.

Ralph Thorne, '38, is instructor in heat treating in the general engineering department at Purdue University. He was president of the Steubenville alumni chapter in 1941-42.

"OHIO RIVER BELOW GALLIPOLIS" BY CLARENCE H. CARTER
... a valuable addition to the university's cultural store

Painting Purchased by Darst Memorial Grant

A painting by a major contemporary artist has been purchased with a part of the $3,300 bequest the university received from the estate of the late Mrs. Mary E. Darst, of Radnor. The money was given to the university to be used in establishing a memorial to Mrs. Darst's daughter, Rose Marie Darst, '26, former assistant professor of art at Kansas State College, who died June 1, 1945.

The Darst will stipulated that a part of the grant be used for purchasing "a suitable work of art to be hung in the halls of the University," with the remainder being used to establish the Rose Marie Darst Memorial Fund to provide scholarships in the art department.

The painting selected was "Ohio River Below Gallipolis" by Clarence H. Carter, who was born at Portsmouth in 1904. Generally acclaimed by critics as it was shown in a dozen principal galleries and museums through the East, the painting now hangs in the first-floor corridor of Cutler Hall.

The Brooklyn Eagle termed the painting "the type of landscape Daubigny tried all his life to do, without having ever attained the freshness and gusto of Clarence Carter."

Edward Alden Jewell, of The New York Times, said of the Ohio artist: "More deeply and sympathetically than did Grant Wood, Carter explores the American spirit."

Dean Earl C. Seigfred, of the College of Fine Arts, calls the painting "a valuable addition to the university's cultural store, and, we hope, the beginning of a collection of similarly-obtained works of art."

Dean Seigfred also has announced the granting of the first Rose Marie Darst Award for Scholarship. The initial award went to Veneta Mascari, of Ironton, a senior in the School of Painting.

Bobcat Champs of '29 Return for Reunion

Time rolled back 20 years recently in Ohio Stadium when the football team of 1929, one of the greatest Bobcat aggregations in the history of the school, again took the field.

Balding, grayish, and perhaps not too fit around the middle 20 years is a long time the men of '29, their coaches, trainer and manager relived for a few brief minutes in the halftime ceremonies in their honor the glory that was theirs two decades ago.

The '29er's came back to Ohio University to be honored and to pay honor to the Bobcats of 1949. And the '49er's did their share to make the day a glad one with their thrilling upset of a strongly-favored West Virginia University team.

The opening game victory of the '49 version of the Fighting Bobcats probably brought the '29er's memories of their sound trouncing of another "big school" in their opening game 20 years ago. They whipped Indiana of the then Big Ten 18 to 0 and went on to an undefeated, untied season in which they scored 305 points to their opponents 13. The '29er's were the first team to play in Ohio Stadium.

A dinner for the '29er's and their wives (see picture on page 18) given at the Athens Country Club and attended by university administrative and athletic officials, culminated the 20-year recognition of a great

FIGHTING BOBCATS OF 1929
... 20 years is a long time

The Bobcat Sports Review

By VIC SHEROW, '29

STARTING OUT their 1949 season on the victory main line, the Ohio Fighting Bobcats were sidetracked to the tie column in their fourth encounter and then shunted off onto the defeat line in their next two encounters, with three games still on the schedule.

After a thrilling and totally unexpected win by a 17 to 7 count over the West Virginia Mountainers, the Bobcats marked up another unexpected win when they tripped the strong Western Michigan Broncos 16 to 6 in a Mid-American Conference tilt at Kalamazoo. The victory avenged a 40-7 defeat in 1948 at the hands of the Broncos.

Kent State, in the second home tilt of the season, threw a scare into Bobcat partisans when the visitors tallied early in the first period but the Bobcats, taken somewhat by surprise, regained their composure and went on to mark up 34 points for themselves while keeping the Kent Staters in check for the rest of the game.

Starting on a three-game road trip and the first of four straight Homecoming tilts, the Bobcats clashed with Western Reserve in League Park, Cleveland, and wound up being unable to break the jinx which has hung over them at Cleveland since their 47-0 win there in 1930.

The Reserve eleven pushed over a touchdown and made the conversion early in the contest and then thwarted several Bobcat scoring efforts. But on the last play of the game halfback Ed Sudnick plunged over from the two-yard line for the first touchdown he ever had scored in playing a halfback position three years at Cleveland South and five at Ohio U. Sudnick booted the extra point to knot the count at 7-all.

Playing before the largest crowd ever accommodated at the Miami stadium, the Bobcats went down to a 26-0 defeat at the hands of the Redskins, who were playing before their Homecoming crowd. Miami outplayed the Bobcats in every respect in their conference game in defense of the title they won last year.

JAMES SNYDER AND
W. J. TRAUTWEIN

best of luck, Jim!

The Bobcats ended their road schedule, Oct. 29, when they tangled with the Marshall College Thundering Herd before a Homecoming crowd in the Huntington, W. Va., Municipal stadium.

Taking the opening kickoff on their own 12-yard line, the Bobcats pulled 12 ground plays and one 48-yard aerial to push over their only tally of the game. Marshall marked up 14 points in the opening quarter and the two teams went scoreless for the remainder of the game. The Bobcats knocked at the scoring door several times, but lacked the last minute punch to push over their markers.

The Bobcats tallied more first downs (20 to 16), more yardage on the ground and in the air, but were unable to overcome the Thundering Herd lead.

The Bobcats play their own Homecoming against Cincinnati on Nov. 5 and then engage Butler, in a Mid-American Conference game at home on Nov. 12, and Buffalo at home on the 19th to wind up the 1949 season, their first under the tutelage of Coach Carroll C. Widdoes.

No matter what the results of these three games will be, their record will be no worse than that of the two past years, in which only three wins each were tallied along with five losses and a tie in 1947 and six losses last year. But their followers are confident the three home games winding up the season will add some victories to the Bobcat column for 1949.

THE BOBCAT freshmen have met a couple of toughies in the first half of their 4-game schedule and lost to both.

The yearlings journeyed to Cincinnati October 21 to take on a big and strong University of Cincinnati freshman team and came away bruised to the tune of 38 to 13. The following week they launched their attack to the East and were repulsed by the Pitt freshmen by a count of 27 to 8.

Other games on the short frosh schedule are Bowling Green and Miami, the latter at Ohio Stadium.

At the beginning of the season, Coach Frank Richey, who is being assisted by Bob Wren, '43, baseball coach, said his squad as a whole has greater speed than the 1948 squad, but that it lacks depth and first-class replacements for the first and second stringers.

The frosh are using a single-wing attack with some "T" formations the same as the varsity.

Among those seeing action with the squad this year have been linemen Bud Turrentine of Steubenville; Bob Duemer of Hamilton; Bernie Green and Wayne Krisher of Massillon; Jim Gessells of Chillicothe; John Turk and Bob Maruna of Cleveland; Gee Marchi of Gallipolis; Walt Plattenburg of Dayton; Elmer Apel of Berea; Bill Scheider of South Euclid; Vic Pikus of Garfield Heights.

Backs carrying the brunt of the attack are Bob Marchi and Bill Johnson of Gallipolis; Sammy Carpenter of Athens; Tom Anderson of St. Marys; Roger Speidel of Pittsburgh, Pa.; John Nicholas of Toledo; Dick Phillips of Northampton, Pa.; John Evanovich of Navarre; Bill Bevan of Warren; John Pugh of Powhatan Point; Larry Prentner of Hamilton.

THE BOBCAT cross-country team kept Marshall College from making a clean sweep of the athletic encounters of the two schools October 29 with an upset victory over the previously unbeaten Marshall harriers.

Ohio's Ed Maruna led the way as he set a new course record of 21:48. The previous mark for the Marshall course was 22:10.

The win gave the local runners a 2-2 slate for the season. The Ohio runners beat Western Reserve, lost to Miami and were bested in a three-way meet with Ohio Wesleyan and Michigan Normal at Delaware in earlier engagements. They have yet to meet Cincinnati to round out the season's schedule.

Missing from the 1949 cross-country squad, which won four and lost one in dual and triangular competition and finished third in the Mid-American Conference meet last year, are John Hesketh, Gene Cain, and Gordon Netschke. Cain and Netschke were graduated in June. Hesketh, leading runner of last year, did not return to school this fall, but is expected back for the spring track season.

Coach Jim Johnson, '38, has on his squad veterans Ed Maruna of Maple Heights, Wally Bennett of Rocky River, and Bob Wright of Newark. New men are Forest Bean and William Kelly, both of Athens, Robert Reed of Coolville, and Donald Salisbury of Cleveland.

W. J. "DUTCH" Trautwein, head basketball coach since 1938, has given up his coaching duties on the advice of his physician. Succeeding "Dutch" is James E. Snyder, '41, assistant basketball and football coach since 1946.

Trautwein, who has been named associate director of athletics, was also assistant coach of the football team until he resigned two years ago. He joined the Ohio University athletic staff in 1928, coming from Wittenberg, his alma mater, where he coached five years. When he was named head basketball coach, he succeeded B. T. Grover, now assistant to the president.

In his 11 seasons as mentor of the Bobcat cagers, "Dutch" had only one losing year, the 1948-49 season, when the Bobcats won six and lost 16. His all-time record at Ohio shows 135 victories and 91 defeats against some of the toughest competition available. With a per game average of 51.3 to their opponents' 46.5, Trautwein's Bobcats scored a total of 11,591 points while their opponents were garnering 10,519.

Snyder, a graduate of Canton McKinley High School, where he was named to the All-Ohio basketball team in 1937, coached two years at Canton Lehman before joining the Bobcat staff. He served three years as an athletic instructor in the Army Air Force convalescent program.

At Ohio University, Snyder played basketball and football, starring as a halfback in the latter and playing both guard and forward positions in basketball. He was one of the outstanding players on the 1941 basketball team that in the Madison Square Garden Invitational Tournament beat Duquesne and City College of New York before losing to Long Island in the finals.

Snyder, who is married and has two children, has been freshman basketball coach the past two seasons. Last year he produced a team that won all 14 of its games and gave the West Virginia University freshmen their only defeat of the season.

Snyder's frosh scored 867 points to their opponents' 598 in the 14 games. Included among their victims was the Ohio State Junior Varsity. His 1949-50 varsity squad will launch a 20-game schedule December 6, which includes home-and-home games with the five other Mid-American Conference schools.

Kermit Blosser, '32, end coach in football, is assistant basketball coach.

The cage squad opened practice in October with every position "wide open." Competing for starting berths with 10 or so of last year's strong frosh team are about eight returning varsity men.

Bob Wren, head baseball coach, has been named freshman basketball coach to succeed the stepped-up Snyder.

EMERITUS PROFESSOR DIES FOLLOWING HEART ATTACK

Lewis J. Addicott, professor emeritus of civil engineering and founder of his department at Ohio University, died October 30 at Sheltering Arms Hospital, Athens, following a severe coronary attack at his home the previous day. He was 81 years of age.

Professor Addicott came to Ohio University in 1904 to organize and head a new department of civil and School of Applied Science, now Case Institute of Technology, from which he received a Bachelor of Science and a Civil Engineering degree. He was superintendent of the Orwell schools for seven years, 1893-1900.

Twice married, his first wife died in 1923. Later he married Miss Marguerite Apgar, a sister of Miss Genevieve Apgar who was then a member of the English department at Ohio University.

The survivors include the widow and three children, Gertrude Louise Addicott, '30, teaching in a Cincinnati suburb; Harold B. Addicott, '24, professor of geography at State Normal College; Moorhead, Minn.; and Donald K. Addicott, '32, an accountant with General Motors in Indianapolis, Ind.

Funeral services were held at the Athens Presbyterian Church, with which Professor Addicott was long associated as a member and elder.

mining engineering which the Board of Trustees had just created. A little later, the "mining" was dropped from the name and it became the civil engineering department.

In addition to his teaching, he was supervising architect for the university and was active in local affairs, having been a member of the Athens City Council and clerk and member of the City Board of Education. Upon his retirement in 1938, after 34 years of service at the university, he was given the rank of professor emeritus.

His career as a public school and college teacher covered a span of fifty years.

On June 5, 1938, a large number of engineering graduates and former students tendered Professor Addicott and Dean Emeritus A. A. Atkinson a Recognition Dinner at the Athens Country Club. Dean Atkinson had retired the previous year as head of the College of Applied Science.

Professor Addicott was born in Orwell, Ohio, and attended Case

FERGUSONS RETURN HOME FROM EIGHT-COUNTRY TOUR

Grant Ferguson, '48, and Mrs. Ferguson ("Boots" Rawles, '47) recently returned from a bicycle and hitchhiking tour of Europe that took them into eight countries.

The peripatetic couple began their year abroad with Grant enrolled for four months of postgraduate work at the University of Stockholm. They then took to the highways, staying nights in the youth hostels which dot Europe. A night's lodging in these hostels cost only 25 cents, the Fergusons reported, and offered invaluable discussions in international politics among the representatives of the dozen or so countries usually found at a hostel.

Food was cheap, a four-course dinner in Austria costing only 60 cents. The Fergusons' future plans call for more graduate study—in the United States.

TWO JOIN HEALTH SERVICE

Two additions to the University Health Service staff this fall are Dr. L. C. Lund, associate physician, and Dr. Arthur R. Moler, assistant physician.

Dr. Lund attended Ohio State, University of Chicago, and the Nebraska School of Medicine and was formerly with the Stephens College student health service. Dr. Moler received his training at the University of Cincinnati and prior to coming to Ohio University was associated with the Florida school health program. He is a son of the late Arthur L. Moler, '10, 2-yr., of Cincinnati.

Faculty Sketches

By BOB McCREANOR, '48

MARY T. NOSS

The gain of Romance languages was music's loss when some 40 years ago circumstances led Dr. Mary T. Noss to forego music, her first choice, and accept a position as a teacher of French.

An accomplished pianist who had won the Billings Prize in music at Wellesley College and had studied a year under the celebrated Isidore Philipp in Paris, Miss Noss was set to become a teacher of music. But the death of her father the year she was graduated from Wellesley changed her plans.

For 26 years her father had been president of Pennsylvania State Normal School (now Pennsylvania State Teachers College) in California, Pa., where Miss Noss was born. Desiring to remain near her mother, who was a teacher in the college, she also sought a position in the Pennsylvania school.

There was no position open in music, but there was one in French, a subject her college training and a year in France well qualified her to teach. So she became a teacher of French. She liked it so well she decided to make it her career, and since then music has been for her but a "delightful avocation."

Miss Noss came to Ohio University in 1914 as a professor of Romance languages. With the exception of three leaves of absence to obtain her advanced degrees, she has given the university continuous service since then. In 1917, she received her M.A. from Columbia and in 1926 was awarded the diploma of the Ecole de Preparation de Professeurs de Francais a L'Etranger from the Sorbonne in Paris. She also studied during summer sessions at the Universities of Geneva, Switzerland, and Dijon, France.

She climaxed her studies abroad in 1932 when the Sorbonne awarded her its Doctorat D'Universite with "mention tres honorable."

Soon after coming to Ohio University, Dr. Noss founded the Alliance Francaise, which today is affiliated with some 500 other such cultural and social organizations in Canada and the United States, with headquarters in Paris.

Dr. Noss believes that a teacher of a foreign language has an opportunity to do much more than teach the mechanics of the language.

"The language teacher can help the students, perhaps better than can the teacher of any other subject, to an appreciation of the entire culture of the country whose language they are studying," she declares. Dr. Noss has helped several thousand Ohio University students to an understanding of the French nation as well as the French language.

Since coming to Athens, she has lived with her mother at 48 University Terrace, almost directly across the street from her classroom in Ellis Hall and next to the home of the late General C. H. Grosvenor, Civil War general and United States Congressman, from whom they purchased their property.

Dr. Noss has contributed to The French Review and Modern Language Journal. She is a member of the Modern Language Association, American Association of University Professors, American Association of University Women, and the American Association of Teachers of French. She is a past president of the Ohio branch of the last-named organization and a charter member and past president of the Woman's Music Club of Athens.

interesting "sketches" will deal with faculty members in the order of their seniority on the Ohio University teaching staff.

In writing of Prof. Mackinnon last month, Mr. McCreanor stated that 37 years ago "Mac" and Dean Emeritus Edw. Watts Chubb "were the only teachers of the English language and its literature..." In fairness to Hiram Roy Wilson, '96, now professor emeritus of English, it should be pointed out that Dr. Wilson was teaching courses in English literature as early as 1900, and that he became head of the English department of the College of Education in 1906.

PRESIDENT BAKER HONORED IN HOME STATE CEREMONY

Dr. John C. Baker, president of Ohio University since Feb. 1, 1945, was one of the 26 distinguished former Pennsylvanians who were awarded "Pennsylvania Ambassador" citations in home-town ceremonies during Pennsylvania Week, Oct. 17 to 24.

President Baker, the only Ohio resident named for the honor, is a native of Everett, Pa. He received his bachelor's degree from Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa., in 1917, and his doctor's degree from the same college in 1943. He is a member of the board of trustees of the college.

President Baker holds a master's degree in business administration from Harvard, where he served two decades in teaching and administrative positions prior to coming to Ohio University.

A committee of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce made the selections four women and 22 men from a list of 90 candidates nominated by local civic, commercial, and service organizations throughout Pennsylvania. President Baker was nominated by the Huntingdon Chamber of Commerce.

The citations, awarded "for outstanding achievement in the best traditions of the Commonwealth," were given only to former Pennsylvanians now residing outside the state.

The list included Generals Jacob L. Devers, Joseph T. McNarney, and Carl Spaatz, Admiral Joel T. Boone, Senator Homer Ferguson, Alfred Landon, Irving S. Olds, Hervey Allen, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Vaughn Monroe and Stan Musial.

Here and There Among the Alumni

1888

Not too happy news has come from Uhrichsville concerning JUDGE GEORGE W. REED, a retired attorney and a former national president of the Ohio University Alumni Association. Mr. Reed's son reports that the father, now in his 87th year, was stricken with a serious ailment on September 12 and has been in a local hospital since that time. Judge Reed still maintains a loyal interest in his alma mater and its alumni organization, giving instructions that his membership should be kept up in the association.

1893

A typographical error in the May Alumnus which credited the late CHARLES G. MATTHEWS with but 20 years of service as Ohio University librarian has been called to the editor's attention by his widow, MRS. MAUDE CRYDER MATTHEWS, '17, a former member of the Ohio University faculty now retired from teaching but still living in Athens. The years of Mr. Matthews' service should have been 30 instead of the 20 indicated. He became associated with the library staff in 1895, two years after graduation from the university.

1895

ARTHUR C. JOHNSON, ex (see picture), editor-in-chief of the Columbus Dispatch and, since 1917, a trustee of Ohio University, observed his 75th birthday anniversary on October 10. The day was taken note of by many of his professional friends and colleagues as well as by friends generally throughout the state. He was a student at Ohio University in the early '90's until ill health forced him to give up his studies. Later, he entered Buchtel College, now Akron University. As a journalist he has served as city editor of the Akron Beacon Journal, editor-in-chief of the Washington (D.C.) Post, and for the past 44 years as editor of the Columbus Dispatch. Mr. Johnson is widely known for his interest in the preservation of Ohio's historical heritage, being president of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society and of the Rutherford B. Hayes Foundation. As an undergraduate at Ohio University, the Columbus editor was a contemporary and close friend of "STRICK" GILLILAN, '93x, nationally known humorist, now of Washington, D.C., and of DR. C. M. SHEPARD, '96, a Columbus physician.

Indirect word has been received of the late September death, in Wellesley Hills, Mass., of Mrs. Anastasia O'Neill Wilson, wife of RALPH B. WILSON, ex, one of the top executives of the Babson Statistical Organization, Babson Institute, and Babson Reports, Inc. Mr. Wilson has taught at Ohio State University and was at one time chairman of the faculty of the College of Business Administration of Boston University. He became associated with Roger W. Babson and the Babson organizations in 1919.

"It will be a sad day for Miami when her students demand not more work but more freedom, and when they get the greatest satisfaction not from something attempted but from something attended." The foregoing was the keynote of the address delivered by DEAN WILLIAM E. ALDERMAN of Miami University's College of Arts and Sciences at the all-university convocation on September 22. "The University is above all else an educational institution and no amount of recognized or surreptitious college life can relieve it of the responsibility of teaching its students to think," the dean stated. He did not, however, condemn extra-curricular and social activities as a part of college life. Dean Alderman became associated with Miami University in 1935 after having been dean and professor of English at Beloit College, Wisc., for a number of years. Mrs. Alderman is the former WILHELMINE BOELZNER, '11.

ARTHUR C. JOHNSON
(See Class of 1895 notes)

1910

Mrs. Helen Harlan Beckley, wife of HARRY C. BECKLEY, 2-yr., Athens clothing merchant, died September 5 at her South Court Street home after a prolonged illness. A native of Zanesville and a graduate of Ohio State University, she had taught in the high schools in Logan and McArthur.

1911

H. B. FRANCIS, Steubenville, husband of MRS. ANNETTE HIGGINS FRANCIS, 2-yr., died on August 25. Because of ill health he had retired a year previously from a position in the general office of the Weirton Steel Company which he had held for thirty years. He and Mrs. Francis were married in 1917 and have no children. The widow expects to continue her residence in Steubenville where for years she has been one of the most active members of Ohio University's local alumni group. Although not an alumnus, Mr. Francis frequently attended the annual dinners of the Ohio University chapter.

MELLA VAN METER, a veteran teacher in the Marion schools, was a campus visitor on October 27-28. She combined a visit to once-familiar scenes with attendance of sessions of the Southeastern Ohio Education Association.

1913

Mrs. W. L. McCoy (HAZEL REED), a former county school head in the state of Idaho, is now teaching in the high school at Hartsville, Ohio.

1915

Several uneasy days were experienced this fall by members of the faculty of Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Ill., following exposure of a large number of persons to an especially contagious brand of meningitis. Contacts were made with a member of the staff who had contracted the disease and, unaware of it, attended a college reception. In an effort to prevent a spread of the dread malady college authorities purchased 5,000 doses of sulfadiazine and distributed them to faculty members and a number of students with a request that each individual take at least six doses. Among those discomfited by the medication were DR. BRUCE LINEBURG and Mrs. Lineburg (WINIFRED WILLIAMS, '11, 2-yr.). Dr. Lineburg has been head of the biology department at Lake Forest College for the past 25 years. He received his Ph.D. degree from Johns Hopkins University prior to going to the Illinois school.

1917

MARY B. HOSKINS, 2-yr., now holds the rank and title of associate professor of education at Wilmington (Ohio) College. Miss Hoskins has been a member of the faculty of this well-known Quaker school for more than twenty years.

1918

C. B. DILLON, onetime superintendent of public schools in Ironton and Glouster, and now retired from work in the field of education, is an Athens resident and representative of the Motorists Mutual Insurance Co. of Columbus.

Failing health forced the resignation, August 31, of CLARENCE O. CHAPMAN (see picture) as superintendent of the Meigs County schools, a position which he had held for 17 years. The resignation also brought to an end a thirty-four year career as an educator in Meigs County which included classroom teaching, coaching, and a high school principalship. In his years in the county office, he supervised a modernization program which reduced his system from 44 one-room schools in 23 districts to 15 centralized schools, 3 one-room schools and 6 high schools. There are now only 8 districts. Plans were under way for the removal of the 3 one-roomers. The Chapman family is a 100% Ohio University group. Mrs. ERNESTINE CARNAL CHAPMAN received a degree in 1938. The two daughters are

CLARENCE O. CHAPMAN
(See Class of 1919 notes)

Mrs. Robert G. Vandemark (JEAN CHAPMAN, '43), Columbus, and Mrs. Jed Webster, Jr. (ELIZABETH CHAPMAN, '37x), Pomeroy. Mr. Chapman expects to continue his residence in Rutland.

1920

Mrs. Morgan Giblein (FRANCILE MUCK) has been assistant librarian of the Morley Library in Painesville since the death of her husband four years ago this fall.

1921

DR. GEORGE A. WOODHOUSE, a Pleasant Hill physician, expects to witness his first Ohio University Homecoming game this fall since leaving the campus. He will be accompanied by a son who is now a senior in high school and who has an interest in learning more about his father's alma mater. Three other children have gone or are now going to Miami University.

1922

Mrs. H. A. Coffey (MARIE COLVILLE), Crestline, whose daughter, Annetta, is a freshman at Ohio University this year, has reported a serious injury that befell Harry Earle, a fellow townsman and an Ohio University senior, on last Labor Day. Harry was cutting timber in a woods near Wadsworth when a log rolled on him, fracturing his pelvic bone. He is now convalescing at Crile Veterans Hospital, Cleveland. His doctors think he may be able to return to the university in February.

EARL BECKLEY, for several years associated with Beckley's clothing store, opposite the Alumni Gateway in Athens, but more recently a resident of Zanesville out of which he traveled as a representative of a Chicago belt manufacturer, has returned to Athens to resume his connection with the family business. The father, founder of the Athens store, is now dead, the three brothers—HARRY C. BECKLEY, '10, 2-yr. (see Class of 1910 notes), PAUL H. BECKLEY, '32, and Earl being currently active in the management.

Death, from an unreported cause, claimed little 8-year-old Vaughnda Chase, daughter of VAUGHN H. CHASE, and Mrs. Chase (MILDRED RILEY, '23) September 15 at Children's Hospital in Cleveland. Mr. Chase is a special agent of the U.S. Treasury Department.

In writing of the pleasure derived from attending the reunion of his class last June, HOMER W. DUPLER, vice president of the Newark Trust Company, commented as follows: "One often anticipates such events with enthusiasm only to have them fall short of expectations. VIRGIL DASSEL and I agreed that our weekend in Athens was far above our anticipation. We are now looking forward to 1954 and our 30th reunion." Mr. Dassel is head of the department of economics and treasurer of Capital University in Columbus. He is also research director for Citizens Research, Inc. Before going to Capital, he was associated with the State Sales Tax Division and prior to that was an instructor in business administration at Wittenberg College, Springfield.

1925

Newly arrived on the Ohio University campus is James Paul, son of HAROLD J. PAUL, '25, and MRS. ROSE JEWETT PAUL, '30, of Pasadena, Calif. Jim is a junior, having had previous work at John Muir College in Pasadena. His father, now a high school teacher in California's Rose Bowl city, is a former Athens high school instructor. Mrs. Paul, at one time, was secretary to Dean Irma E. Voigt at Ohio University.

1926

LIEUT. COL. ANDREW C. NELSON, who was invalided back to Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D.C., following a heart attack suffered while on a tour of foreign duty in Paris, France, is now on leave for several weeks at his home in Athens. In charge of the Army's Paris finance office, he was hospitalized first in the American Hospital in Paris and later in the 97th General Hospital in Frankfurt, Germany. He and Mrs. Nelson, who is with him in Athens, returned to the States aboard the Army hospital ship, The U. S. S. General Goethals. They were met in New York by Colonel Nelson's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Herrly (FLORENCE NELSON, '14, 2-yr.) of Niagara Falls, N.Y. The Athenian is a brother of COLONEL DONALD T. NELSON, '14x, who is now general procurement agent for the U.S. Army of Occupation in Tokyo, Japan. An interesting note concerning another brother, BELFORD B. NELSON, '29, will appear in the December Alumni.

1927

Camp Arrowhead, a new and beautiful camp for teen-age boys, located near Jackson and described, with pictures, in a feature story in a recent issue of the Columbus Dispatch Sunday Magazine, was established by Edward A. Jones, president of the Globe Iron Company in Jackson and husband of the former KATHERINE McKIE. The camp is located on "Lake Katherine", a spring-fed lake in the center of Camp Arrowhead's 1200 acres of forest. MERRILL DAVIS, '33, Jackson music supervisor, is co-director of the summer camp which is attended by boys of from 12 to 16 years of age.

STANLEY P. BAYLESS

An Associated Press news story on October 27 reported the sudden death of Earl O. Wright, head coach of Akron's Garfield High School football team and husband of the former ALICE EDWARDS. The unexpected death occurred on the eve of the Garfield-Canton Lincoln gridiron contest which members of Coach Wright's squad voted to play because "they knew their coach would want them to." A former Akron University football star, Mr. Wright was 46 years of age. He leaves his widow, mother, and two sons, one of the latter, Robert, being a freshman at Ohio University last year.

Dr. A. C. Eurich, president of the State University of New York, a fictitious institution which is in reality the State Department of Education, has announced the appointment of DR. LAWRENCE L. JARVIE as executive dean for the two-year institutes and community colleges. The position carries with it an annual salary of $12,000 and responsibility for the programs of the six State University agricultural and technical institutes, and the five institutes of applied arts and sciences. Dr. Jarvie will also be responsible for the development of the program under which the university will cooperate with communities in the establishment of two-year liberal arts colleges. The Ohio University graduate is a native of Scotland. He has held faculty positions in George Washington University (Washington, D. C.), the Rochester (N. Y.) Institute of Technology, and the University of Chicago. A lieutenant colonel in World War II, he held the position of chief of training in the Army's Command and General Staff School and was director of instruction for the Wharton-American Technical School in the E.T.O. He was an outstanding end on the Bobcat gridiron teams of his day.

LEWIS A. TERVEN, a Salinas, Calif., vegetable packer and shipper, is currently attending a special 3-months' session of the Advanced Management Program at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. With more than necessary modesty, he reports that "I am a dim light in the midst of the general brilliance here. To the undergraduates, we are the P.B.E's (pot-bellied executives). They also call us the 'retreads.'" Concluding an interesting letter, he said, "Harvard almost compares to Ohio University."

Twenty years of service with Thompson Products, Inc., in Cleveland have been capped for STANLEY P. BAYLESS (see picture) by appointment to the position of director of staff sales for his firm. He has served as sales manager of the company's aircraft division since 1945. Thompson Products is the sponsor of the famed Thompson Air Race which is held annually as a part of the Cleveland Air Races. Stan is married, lives in Cleveland Heights, and has two daughters.

HERBERT G. SCHREIBER who has been associated with the National Dental Company in Detroit for the past 17 years, and for 15 of these years manager of its laboratory, expects to be a Homecoming Day visitor to the campus on November 5. Herbert was a Varsity "O" man in baseball. He was a three-sacker with an excellent record for hitting and fielding.

A. DAVID BAUMHART, JR., A.B. '31, A.M. '32, Vermilion, who was twice a state senator and once a U.S. congressman from a Northern Ohio district, has been named assistant to the chairman of the State Republican Executive Committee at GOP Headquarters in Columbus. The new appointee will help "co-ordinate activities of State Headquarters with local Republican organizations to strengthen the party down to the grass roots." Mr. Baumhart had been associated with the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation in Toledo since 1946. He resigned his Congressional seat in 1942 to enter the Navy.

1932

Mrs. Mary Dyson Addicott, wife of DONALD K. ADDICOTT, Indianapolis, Ind., died September 3 following a several-months illness of rheumatic fever. Mr. Addicott is an accountant with the Allison Division of the General Motors Corporation and treasurer of Ohio University's alumni chapter in Indianapolis.

WALTER M. HAAS, B.S.Ed. '32, A.M. '34, for many years a teacher in the high school at Logan, is now a representative in his city of the Columbus Mutual Life Insurance Company.

MRS. F. C. YUAN, A.B. '33, A.M. '34

Twenty-one of the members of the 1929 football squad who enjoyed a reunion at Ohio University on September 24 were accompanied by their wives.

Back row—Mrs. Paul Crites (Marion Donik, '37), Mrs. Lowell Livingston, Mrs. Arthur Hendricks, Mrs. Marshall Griffith, Mrs. Ray Hart, Mrs. John Brommer, Mrs. Joe Esmont, Mrs. Herbert Woolweaver, Mrs. Carl House (Marguerite Crumley, '31), Mrs. Clark Gabriel, and Mrs. Claude Chrismon (Betty Hack, '35).

(see picture), who was Madam Yu Chun Chou when a student at Ohio University, has written again to the Alumni Office, this time to report that her son, Robert, whom she had hoped to see enrolled at her alma mater, is now attending Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington, on a four-year scholarship. Another son is now studying at Linguan University in China. To refresh her memories of a school of which she is still very proud, Mrs. Yuan would like to secure a copy of The 1934 Athena. Now a resident of Kowloon in the Honkong area, Mrs. Yuan has traveled over most of China. Her husband is manager of the Tientsin Branch Office of the Szechuan Animal By-Products Co., Ltd. The Yuans had to leave their home in Tientsin last year when the Communists approached the city.

1934

Not previously reported in these columns is the birth of Thomas Arthur to ELMER E. JACOBS, A.B. '34, B.S. '41, and Mrs. Jacobs (BETTY LOU JOURNAY, '40), November 15, 1947. A resident of Lakewood, Mr. Jacobs is attorney for the Harris-Seybold Company.

1935

REX KOONS, popular campus band leader in his student days and now owner of Koons' Music Store next door to the Athena Theatre in Athens, has added insurance selling to his professional interests, having been appointed to represent the Great-West Life Assurance Company in the local district. His wife, a former Georgia girl, will assist with the management of the music store.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stradley, Jr. (NELLE FERGUSON) have recently taken up residence in Orlando, Fla., where they have purchased and are now operating a wholesale automotive replacement parts business known as Stradley Motor Supply.

Inc. Mrs. Stradley writes that "we will be glad to see any Ohio University alumni who come through Orlando." The new business is located at 316 W. Central Avenue.

1936

CHESTER C. PENROD has been named administrative head of the Star-Washington schools at Union Furnace in Hocking County for a term of two years. The new superintendent was principal of the high school in Corning prior to World War II and was superintendent of the Moxahala schools after his discharge from the Army, in which he served three years as a technical military instructor.

1937

CARL W. ROSS holds a civilian position as a geographer in the Office of the Quartermaster General, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C.

DR. R. LYNN HUTCHISON, A.M., was advanced from the rank of assistant professor to that of associate professor of biology at Bowling Green University this fall.

1938

MARGARET M. CROUCH, a teacher in Mentor, received a Master of Education degree at the University of Pittsburgh on September 7. Besides Ohio University and Pitt, she has attended Kent State University, Western Reserve University, and the National Aquatic School of the American Red Cross at Edgewater, Md.

DONALD S. STEPHENS (see picture), design engineer in the special transformer department of the Westinghouse Corporation at Sharon, Pa., presented a prize-winning paper at a general meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held in San Francisco in August. His subject was "Light-Weight Aircraft Transformers." Slides were used in illustration of the subject matter of the paper. Westinghouse sent Engineer Stephens to the West Coast meeting and also arranged for him to visit aircraft plants in Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Seattle, Wash.

O. O. PATTERSON, A.M., became superintendent of the Meigs County Schools on September 1, succeeding CLARENCE O. CHAPMAN (see Class of 1915 note). As a prerequisite to assuming his new duties, it was necessary for Mr. Patterson, under state laws, to resign his position as the Meigs County representative in the lower house of Ohio's General Assembly. Mr. Patterson is a resident of Rutland and co-owner of a department store in that village.

One of the most unusual projects ever submitted at Ohio University in lieu of a master's thesis was completed this sum-

RICHARD O. LINKE, former assistant publicity director for Capitol Records, Inc., of New York City, joined the Sammy Kaye organization about the first of July. In his new position he will handle all of the Kaye publicity in New York City and in advance of the band on the road. Kaye, a member of the Class of 1932, and his "Swing and Sway" musicians played a one-week engagement at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel in Columbus beginning on September 12. The new relationship between these two Ohio University men will be of interest to their many friends, each being widely known in entertainment and publicity fields.

DR. FREDERICK KITTLE, a resident surgeon at the University of Kansas Hospital in Kansas City, recently participated in what is thought to have been the first surgical operation ever televised for instructional purposes. Dr. Kittle can be recognized readily in a picture of the event which appeared in the Kansas City Star on September 20. A few spectators are to be seen in the gallery overlooking the operating theatre, but five stories above in an adjoining building, 200 persons watched a television screen, five feet wide and seven feet high, and heard the chief surgeon describe each step in his procedure in a deep gall bladder operation. The oversized images were obtained by a special projection arrangement. In the magnified version of the operation, the incision appeared to be approximately one foot in length. The surgeon's gloved hand was about three feet long, while all other details were enlarged in proportion. Because the operation was one of the most difficult from the standpoint of visibility, it was a critical test for television. While admittedly not as clear as a motion picture, the projected image was sufficiently clear for doctors in the audience to name the blood vessels, nerves, muscles and organs exposed in the body of the patient.

NELL S. FOSTER, who is pursuing musical studies in New York City before returning to Europe for another period of study abroad, will appear in recital Sunday afternoon, November 20, at the University of Kentucky. Her father, Dr. R. A. Foster, a professor of English at Ohio University, is a graduate of the university at Lexington. Miss Foster was born in Richmond, Ky., and began her musical life at an early age singing Shakespearean lyrics and English and American ballads to illustrate her father's lectures on literature. Last year she was granted a scholarship for travel and for study in Paris by the Conservatoire Nationale. Her studies and preparations of operatic roles in French were under the supervision of Madame Yvonne Borthier of the Paris Opera.

DR. ANTHONY A. SILVIDI, B.S. '43, M.S. '45 (see picture) was named head of the physics department at the College of Steubenville this fall. Dr. Silvidi is a native of Steubenville. After acquiring two degrees at Ohio University, he earned a Ph.D. degree at Ohio State University. On the local campus, he was a charter member of the Ohio University Veterans Association. At Ohio State, he did research in low-temperature physics under the guidance of Prof. J. G. Daunt, an internationally-known physicist. A year ago, Dr. Silvidi was a member of a group that obtained the lowest temperature reading ever recorded in the United States. He has been invited to attend the international conference on physics in very low temperatures to be held later this year at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

JOE RICCARDI, in his fifth season as assistant football coach at Cleveland Heights High School, has resigned his position to take over a Ford agency in Green Springs, a community about 20 miles from Sandusky, his home town. At Heights High School he was also head mer by HARLEY C. HASKINS, B.S. Ed. '40, M.S. '49. Mr. Haskins, principal of the Dawson-Bryant school district at Coal Grove, constructed a Stradivarius-model violin for which he has received an offer of $1500. The offer was refused, the instrument having been pronounced "good" by experts and being highly prized by its maker. Under Graduate College regulations at Ohio University, the graduate council may approve the submission of such a project as Mr. Haskins' as a substitute for the more traditional written report based on study and research.

KARL H. SCHMIDT, JR. (see picture), who is a life insurance counselor in Akron, has recently been professionally designated a "chartered life underwriter" by the American College of Life Underwriters. The Akron man heads the district office of the National Life Insurance Company of Vermont. Success has come to him in an avocational field as well. He was a finalist in the Akron District Golf Tournament this year for the second time, and was winner of the Breathnach Country Club championship for the second year in a row. Early in October, he was elected president of the Akron District Golf Association. In the picture he appears with his brother RICHARD H. SCHMIDT, '49.

track coach and swimming mentor. Before going to the Cleveland suburb, he had been head football coach in the high school in Bucyrus.

If a toothache strikes, in Brooklyn, see DR. MILTON ROBINSON, 1712 Kings Highway; if in Bridgeport, Conn., see Dr. Robert J. Ruby, 44x, 1115 Main Street.

MRS. ANN DRESSSEL RONNING is secretary to her husband, Lawrence M. Ronning, an attorney in Parkersburg, W. Va.

1945

MRS. NORMA LUCCIONI POWELL at one time a food supervisor at Stouffer's Restaurant in Pittsburgh and later the dietitian at Ohio University's East Green cafeteria, is now living in Bedford. Professionally, she is a fine arts and sterling silver specialist located in the Bulkeley Building in Cleveland. Her husband, Edwin L. Powell, is an electrical engineer with the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Hyman (VERA SHAPIRO) have moved from Brooklyn, N.Y., to Augusta, Me., where Mr. Hyman is now connected with the Kennebec Division of the Hudson Pulp & Paper Company.

MARJORIE AHLQUIST is advertising production manager for the Sears Roebuck & Co. store in Dayton.

MARILYN L. SCHAKO is secretary to the commercial sales manager of G.M.C.'s Frigidaire Division in Dayton.

1946

From two seemingly reliable sources the editor of The Alumnus has received word that both parents of MARILYN C. EMSLEY, were victims of the burning of the S. S. Noronic at Toronto, Canada, a few weeks ago. At last account, Miss Emsley was a member of the advertising production staff of the Penton Publishing Company in Cleveland.

MRS. BETTY KEESECKER SKIDMORE has had a grand time during recent months visiting in Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium and France. Now living in Berg, Germany, she is busy acquiring a German vocabulary since she and her husband, Lieut. William F. Skidmore, expect to be abroad at least one more year. She reports that she also is busy raising boxers (dogs, that is) and has four at the moment.

JOHN P. DeMOLET, JR., until recently a law student in the University of Cincinnati, is now associated with his father-in-law in Canfield Motors, Inc., a Ford and Mercury agency near Youngstown. He is continuing work on a law degree, at night, in the Youngstown College Law School. Mrs. DeMolet (GEORGIANNA "GENE" BAKER, '46) is teaching in the Boardman School in a Youngstown suburb.

The Ralph Exlines—RALPH V., A.B. '47, A.M. '48, and the former FRANCES HOWARD '44—are now in Urbana, Illinois, where the former is a research assistant in the Bureau of Research and Service and is working on a Ph.D. at the University of Illinois. "It's a fine-seeming university," they write, "but of course we miss O.U." Mr. Exline was assistant to DEAN GEORGE W. STARCHER, '26, of the University College during his post-grad days at Ohio University, while Mrs. Exline was a member of Registrar Mahn's staff.

Contrary to the statement appearing in the October Alumnus, HAROLD L. ABMYER is now serving the Methodist Church of Fredericksburg, Va., as its minister of music. Earlier plans to accept a similar position with All-Saint's Episcopal Church in Attleboro, Mass., as reported in the magazine, were changed.

ARTHUR MCPHERSON, JR. and Mrs. McPherson (MARY GIBSON, '43), with their two children, Carol Lee and Tommy, have moved to Wooster where Mr. McPherson is now associated with the botany department of the Ohio Agriculture Experiment Station. Mrs. McPherson's father, Thomas E. Gibson, Athens, prominent in state Masonic circles, was honored this fall with election to the 33rd degree in Scottish Rite Masonry and was inducted in ceremonies held at Chicago on September 28. He is at present Grand Generalissimo of the Grand Commandery of Ohio, Knights Templar. Mrs. McPherson's mother is the former ADENA DANFORD, '17.

WALTER F. JOYCE, JR., formerly with the advertising department of Prentice-Hall in New York City, recently has become a member of Kelly-Kramer, Inc., an advertising and public relations agency. He was a news reporter and publicity writer in Ohio before going to New York, and as an Army Air Force pilot in World War II he completed 70 combat missions and served as a general's aide in Italy.

Mrs. Haldor G. Shields (BETTY LOU BROWN) is a medical caseworker for the Franklin County Welfare Department in Columbus. She reports that the reception following her marriage on June 15 proved to be a reunion for a number of Ohio University alumni. Among those present were RUTH WEISER STAVITSKY, '47; RITA J. STEIN, '47; GRACE WALZER, '48; HELENE SPALDO, '48; CAROLYN ROSENBERG, '48; BILL STEINHARDT, '51; and JOE MANZIONE, '50.

GEORGE F. STOODT and Mrs. Stoodt (MARGERY J. LONG, '50x) are residents of Belleville. The former is a sales representative of the General Foods Corporation. Parents of Robin Sue born Nov. 25, 1948, both parents were students at Ohio University in 1946-47.

BERTINA LABORDE, B.S.Ed. '48, M.S. '49 was inaccurately reported in the Alumnus last month as being an "instructor in education" at Youngstown College. More specifically Miss Laborde is an instructor in physical education.

HAROLD S. CUNNINGHAM, B.S. Ed. '48, A.M. '49, a graduate assistant in psychology at Ohio University and director of youth work at the First Methodist Church in Athens last year, is now an assistant professor of psychology and industrial psychologist at Howard College, a Baptist school located in Birmingham, Ala.

Another member of the Class of '49 has taken up residence in Kingsport, Tenn., a community which has been described as a "model city". ROBERT H. SANDERS is now a member of the reporter staff of the Kingsport Times-News. The Times-News has been rated "excellent" in all phases of the NEA ratings and was first in the nation last year for cities under 50,000. A large division of the Eastman Kodak Co. is located in Kingsport. Mrs. Sanders is the former BETTY WEILER, '45. As reported in the October Alumnus, RALPH E. ACKERMAN, '48 & '49, and Mrs. Ackerman (EILEEN DOTTA, '44) are teachers in the Kingsport schools.

On the eve of a new experience, that of teaching, DORIS DISHON wrote from Ignacio, Colo., early in September: "I have accepted a teaching position here and am eagerly awaiting the beginning of school. Even though it is far from home, I have an Ohio University graduate as my superintendent and boss, Mr. CHESTER

A. WAY whose home is in Waverly, Ohio. I shall teach English and Beginning Spanish. The majority of the students are Mexicans with a few Indians from the Ute Reservation, which is one mile from here. Anyone interested in observing inter-racial groups living together would delight in this small western town." Superintendent Way received a B.S.Ed. degree from Ohio University in 1940 and an M.Ed. degree the following year.

RUSSELL F. BLOWERS, an August grad, was ordained to the ministry of the Christian Church in ordination ceremonies at the First Christian Church, Athens, on August 7. Mr. Blowers is now enrolled for graduate studies at Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind.

ROBERT L. TOWNER, ex, is an engineer-sales trainee with the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corporation in Pittsburgh. Deaths

GEORGE BURRIS WYCKOFF

GEORGE B. WYCKOFF, '32, age 39, Columbiana, died October 16 at South Side Hospital, Youngstown, following a year's illness.

Mr. Wyckoff had been employed since 1942 as an electrical engineer with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation. Previous to that, he had taught in the high schools in McArthur and North Lima for one year and seven years, respectively.

He leaves his wife, the former DORIS L. GIESCKE, '32, and a son, Robert, age 4.

THOMAS WATSON CRAIG

T. WATSON CRAIG, '03x, died October 1 following a heart attack at his home in Seattle, Washington. He was 66 years of age.

A native of McArthur, Mr. Craig was manager of the D. Zenner Co. department store in Athens for approximately 25 years before taking up residence in the West in 1936.

After operating a store near Portland, Ore., he moved to Seattle where he was associated with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Mr. Craig is survived by a son, THOMAS M. CRAIG '36, who is the Oregon branch manager for Confidential Reports, Inc., a national organization doing survey work for the motion picture industry, and a sister, Mrs. Hiram Roy Wilson (FLORENCE CRAIG, '98), Athens. Mrs. Craig died several years ago.

JOHN MICHAEL WILLIAMS

Death, following an extended illness, came to JOHN M. WILLIAMS, '19, of Cuyahoga Falls, age 52, on October 25 in an Akron hospital. A native of Jacksonville, he served in World War I prior to his graduation from Ohio University. He was commissioned a second lieutenant of Field Artillery at Camp Taylor, Ky.

Mr. Williams became principal of his home high school in Jacksonville immediately after the war and later was superintendent of schools at Summit Station, near Columbus, for a number of years. Since 1928, and until the time of his illness, he had been associated with business concerns in Akron, among these the Standard Savings Bank.

Survivors, in the immediate family, are Mrs. Williams (MARY FULTON, '19) and a daughter, MARY ELLEN, who attended Ohio University for two years, 1947-49.

GERTRUDE BARTLETT

GERTRUDE BARTLETT, '12, R.F.D. 1, Sonora, died October 8 in Cleveland Clinic Hospital. She had been in ill health for some time.

Miss Bartlett was head of the Amesville schools during her first year after graduation from Ohio University and the following year was principal of the high school at Gibsonburg. She became director of the Muskingum County Normal School at Dresden in 1915. In 1922, she was named assistant director of the Trumbull County Normal School in Warren, remaining there until 1929 when she accepted a teaching position in the Dayton Junior Teachers College. She resigned from the latter position in 1932. Although not a matter of record in the Alumni Office, it is believed that Miss Bartlett retired from teaching on account of the condition of her health in the year last named.

She received her A.M. degree at Ohio State University and had engaged in work on a doctorate at Columbia University.

Interment was in Chesterhill, Morgan County.

UNITS OFF TO GOOD START

Cleveland Women

The 1949-50 program of the Ohio University Women's Club of Cleveland was opened on September 24 with a luncheon at Higbee's Lounge. The entertainment feature was a review and dramatization of Goertz' "The Moon is Mine" by Mrs. Aileen Benninghoff. The October 22 meeting, on which a report has not yet been received, was another luncheon at Higbee's which was followed by an address by a speaker provided by the Council on World Affairs.

On November 15, the Cleveland alumnae will hold their annual benefit card party and tea, the proceeds from which will be used for their scholarship fund. The party will be held at the club's usual meeting place, Higbee's Lounge.

The ladies will support the Cleveland Bobcats in their sponsoring of the Christmas Dance (see box in center of page).

Other meetings, which are a part of the most elaborate program ever arranged by an Ohio University alumni group, are scheduled for January 14, February 11, March 11, March 16, April 22, and May 21 with a June date yet to be selected. More detailed announcements of these meetings will be made in future issues of The Ohio Alumnus.

The club's officers are: President, Bette Parge Goyer, '41; vice president, Fannie Simon Madow, '41; secretary, Eleanor Stoup Benson, '27; and treasurer, Gertrude J. Hudlett, '43.

Youngstown Women

The opening event for the Ohio University Women's Club of Youngstown was a casserole picnic, September 24, at Homestead Park. The committee for this meeting was under the chairmanship of Florence Kugler, '37.

CARLA R. CLARK, '48, Middleport, to ENSIGN Peter F. Klein, Middleport. A graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, Ensign Klein is now aboard the U.S.S. Masses. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Klein (FRANCIS HUNKER, '24x).

A Brief Message Concerning THE OHIO UNIVERSITY FUND, INC.

This month nearly one hundred high school students from all over Ohio visited Ohio University to participate in the Third Annual Awards Competition for Excellence in Ohio History, Ohio Government and Citizenship. This ambitious University-sponsored project is not only inherently of worth, but is a dignified medium through which the University wins hundreds of new friends each year.

Without the Ohio University Fund, Inc., that project could not have been established. And it is only one of many projects—in research, cultural development, student recognition—which your generosity and foresight, expressed through your contributions to the Fund, have made possible.

But the need is still greater than the means. Many more worthy jobs need the assistance of the Fund. Perhaps you have a proposal which you would like to see included among the Fund's objectives? Send it along with your 1949 contribution to the Fund.

Make Your 1949 Contribution To The Fund Before Dec. 31
